Finns Claim 17 Soviet Planes Shot Down In Yesterday's Air Raids

By PETER DE HEMMER GUDME

VIBORG, Finland, Jan. 30.—With Russian losses estimated to date at 200,000 men, reports from all battle fronts indicated today that a new and major Soviet offensive against Finland is imminent.

These military advances stated that the Russians are sending heavy reinforcements to all their lines both on the Mannerheim line in the Carelian Isthmus and along the Eastern Finnish border north of Lake Ladoga.

Russian Planes Shot Down
Meanwhile, Finnish sources claimed that 17 Russian planes were shot down during yesterday's Soviet air raids over Southern Finland during which more than 100 persons were reported killed and between 750 and 300 were wounded.

At the same time it was claimed that the tide of the battle raging north of Lake Ladoga is now favoring the Finns, and that at least 1,250 Russian soldiers were killed and several Soviet positions captured in two battles in that front on Sunday.

PA NEW OBSERVES

February 8 to 14 has been marked for the observance of the 30th anniversary of Boy Scouting in this country. That week will be known as Boy Scout Week, and special programs are being planned locally.

A number of suggestions of "good books for winning" may be found in the large display case on the public library property, at the corner of North Mercer and North streets.

Inspection stations about the city are filled almost to capacity these days, and the mechanics have their hands full trying to put new inspection stickers on automobiles before February 1.

Dinged fenders on automobiles about town these days are a common thing. These cold mornings make pushing cars almost a necessity, and with pushing comes battered fenders and broken lights.

Quite a portion of the sidewalk, just west of the Washington street bridge, over the Shenango river, is torn up, while workmen are placing a number of cables and wires underground.

Taking a look at the huge snowbanks that surround the various skating ponds in this vicinity, one is convinced that there has been quite a snowfall during the past few weeks. Snow is piled four or five feet high around these ponds having been cleared off the ice as it fell.

Quite a few motorists have just awakened to the fact that they must have their automobiles inspected by Thursday and have their new drivers cards, in order to operate their automobiles legally and (Continued On Page Two)

President Observing Fifty-Eighth Birthday

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—A little grayer and with the lines of the years more deeply etched upon his face, President Roosevelt reached his 58th birthday anniversary today. Despite these inevitable milestones of age, Mr. Roosevelt presented a picture of robust health to the nearly two-score guests who gathered at the White House during the day. "Fit as a fiddle," was the verdict of presidential physician Dr. Ross McIntire after a general check-up of the chief executive. For the most part, the president devoted the day to his guests and family, but members of his staff stood by for any important business that necessitates immediate White House attention.

Mr. Roosevelt expected to send two messages during the day—one to congress suggesting a $10,000,000 program for construction of small hospitals, and another to the hundreds of presidential birthday balls that are being held to raise funds for the anti-infantile paralysis campaign.

The president will deliver a nationwide broadcast address to the various dancing parties at 11:30 E.S.T. tonight.

Says Japan To Demand Return Of German Seamen

(International News Service)
TOKYO, Jan. 30.—Tokyo will demand return of the 21 German seamen seized from the Japanese liner Asama Maru by a British cruiser in the Pacific ocean, a spokesman of the Tokyo foreign office declared today.

The spokesman's disclosure was made after Japanese foreign minister Hachiro Arita received British ambassador Sir Robert Craigie for a full discussion of the Asama Maru incident, which has caused widespread anti-British sentiment throughout Japan.

The spokesman stated that Arita and Sir Robert conferred at the latter's request between 4 and 6:30 p. m.

"They discussed the Asama Maru case from every angle," the spokesman stated.

Foreign minister Arita maintained that return of the 21 Germans is essential.

B. & O. Employees And Guests Have Dinner-Frolic

Four Hundred In Assemblage At Cathedral On Monday Evening

LEADERS SPEAK DURING EVENING

Progress Of Railroad And Outlook Are Presented In Several Addresses

Like a large family around the reunion table, employees of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and their families, about 400 in all, met Monday night, in the dining room of the Cathedral and for a few hours enjoyed themselves in family fashion. It was the annual mid-winter frolic sponsored by the C. T. P. group and like others preceding it was a success.

At six forty five the group sat down to a chicken dinner served by the women of the Winodausis. I. L. Harper, general chairman of the affair opened the speaking program with an address of welcome and introduced C. J. Roessel, Division Freight agent of Youngstown, O. as the toastmaster of the evening.

Introduces Guests
Special guests were then introduced by the toastmaster. Among them were Henry Baker, father of Superintendent W. C. Baker of Akron, S. H. Rhoads, freight agent at New Castle, Chester Williams, Trainmaster at Akron, O., H. F. Harris, traveling passenger agent of Akron, Arch. Volkin, trainmaster of the St. Louis division, Frank R. Doyle, president of the Federated Shop Crafts, S. O. Lewis, road foreman of Engines, Akron, O., and Harry Walton, night terminal trainmaster at New Castle Junction.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne was the first formal speaker. He welcomed the group and contrasted the dinner crowd in the Cathedral with the people of other nations, who have no opportunity for such meetings and exchange of ideas.

Touching on the "Ghost Town" theme, the mayor said: "I've knocked (Continued On Page Two)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Soviet Russia has refused to allow the American Red Cross to provide relief for the people in Russian-occupied Poland, Secretary of State Hull informed the House Foreign Affairs Committee today.

In a letter to the committee, Hull said the Red Cross has been allowed to help those in German-occupied Poland "but only if they cooperate with the German Red Cross."

Hull's letter was read by Chairman Sol Bloom (D. of New York), as the committee began consideration of three bills designed to aid the people in vanquished Poland. Two of the bills would authorize appropriations ranging from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 to distribute food and medical supplies. —BUY IN NEW CASTLE—

TOKYO BLIZZARD TAKES 50 LIVES

TOKYO, Jan. 30.—More than 50 persons were killed and many more were injured today as the worst blizzard in many years swept over northwestern Japan.

Let's Look At The Situation!

This is the fifth of a series of vital articles sponsored by the Greater New Castle Association.

No. 5—Water Connections
One of the indicators generally used to show a long time trend of business conditions and community expansion is the number of water connections and miles of pipe in use.

As an indicator over a short period of time it is seldom used, because ordinarily it does not indicate to any appreciable degree short time increases or decreases in volume of business.

The gallons pumped is also not of much value in showing the trend except where rapid expansion has taken place, because it is subject to so many conditions other than those of business or building expansion.

The amount of water pumped or used is not of much value as an indicator of the variation in employment conditions over any period of time in most cities because of the fact that there are very few industries which use any considerable quantities of water in their manufacturing operations.

It will be observed from the tabulation that follows that from 1927 (Continued On Page Two)

Seek Widening Of Route 422 In Entire County

Truckers Organization Is Starting Movement For Big Improvement

PETITIONS WILL BE SENT TO CAPITAL

Aim Is To Have Route Widened From Ohio Line To Butler County Line

Sponsored by the New Castle chapter of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Federation, a movement has been started to widen Route 422 from the Ohio line through Lawrence County to the Butler County line, where it joins the recently widened piece of road.

Petitions have been started, and already hundreds of signatures have been secured. The petitions will be pushed in the next two weeks and the truckers hope to be able to take down to Harrisburg enough petitions to convince Secretary of Highways I. Lamont Hughes of the necessity of the improvement.

Should Be Widened
"From the standpoint of safety the highway should be widened," said President Paul W. Keely. Route 422 is joined by another U. S. route, No. 224, west of New Castle and the traffic of the two routes is carried over one highway to Portersville. Were the lane to be widened it would get traffic through the county faster and safer.

Relief In Pennsylvania Has Become Permanent

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 30.—Relief in Pennsylvania has become a permanent thing!

Business may continue to improve, labor may be at a premium and the depression may become but a memory, but relief in Pennsylvania will go on.

It has today become a fixed responsibility of the state government for which provision will have to be made as regularly as for the upkeep of the administrative functions of the government. For scores of thousands of persons now on relief will remain there for the remainder of their lives, most of them through no fault of their own.

It was estimated by the Department of Public Assistance that approximately 335,000 persons now receiving relief have become a more or less permanent responsibility. Approximately 190,000 of these comprise persons receiving blind pensions, old age assistance and aid to dependent children. The remaining 145,000 are classified as unemployables, most of them physically or mentally unable to work.

This "continuing rather than temporary responsibility" of the state government, as it is termed by relief officials, now represents a drain on the state treasury of some $44,000,000 annually. Although improved business conditions will reduce this somewhat, the great portion of the load will probably always remain with the state.

Miners Assail Vice President

Federal Wage-Hour Administration Also Attacked In Resolutions

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30.—Vice President John Garner and a New Deal agency—the federal wage-hour administration—were bitterly assailed today in a resolution adopted unanimously at the United Mine Workers' convention.

Garner, once called a "poker-playing, whiskey-drinking, evil old man" by CIO leader John L. Lewis, UMW president, was portrayed in the resolution as the leader of a congressional group seeking to "cripple" the wage-hour law.

The miners indicted the wage-hour administration for allegedly failing to provide a national basic wage structure guaranteeing a minimum standard of living.

Declaring the time was "not ripe" for consideration, the UMW resolutions committee deferred bringing to the convention floor the highly controversial resolution on the third term presidential issue.

Second Attack In Two Days Made On Vessels Along Coast

STEAMER-TRAWLER REPORTED AS SUNK

Nazi Plane Shot Down—Fourteen Vessels Attacked From Air On Monday

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Losing at least one of its own number, a fleet of German war planes raided shipping off the British coast again today, attacking a number of vessels and dropping bombs so close to coastal towns that the detonations shook the countryside.

The 1,487-ton British steamer Eston was sunk with apparent loss of 18 members of her crew, while the 212-ton Grimsby trawler Rigoleto was machine-gunned from the skies. The captain and mate were killed.

One Plane Shot Down
At least one of the attackers was intercepted and shot down by fighting planes of the British Royal Air Force. An air ministry announcement said that the Nazi craft was accounted for somewhere off the east coast of England.

Flushed by the successes of yesterday, when at least 14 vessels were bombed or machine-gunned from the air, the German planes raided ships over a widespread area. At 2 p. m. (9 a. m. E. S. T.), the air ministry announced:

"The enemy is repeating the widespread attacks on east coast shipping which they undertook yesterday."

"Reports so far to hand indicate that early this morning, reconnaissance aircraft appeared off the east coast but disappeared to sea on the approach of Royal Air Force fighters."

Attacked Shipping
"An enemy plane attacked shipping off Yarmouth but was pursued by coastal fighter and patrol aircraft with results that are not yet known."

High School Boy Accidentally Shot

Bessemer Youth Wounded By Companion During Target Practice Monday Evening

Paul Johnson, aged 16, son of George Johnson of Bessemer, is in the Jamez Memorial hospital suffering with a flesh wound of the left hip, which he received Monday evening, during rifle practice by the Boy Scout Rifle Club of Bessemer, on the range at the Metropolitan Brick yard in Bessemer.

Johnson, a student at Bessemer high school, was watching the other boys shoot, it is stated, and moved too close to the target as Charles Miller, a companion, was firing. The bullet went a little wide of the target and struck him in the fleshy part of the hip.

He was brought to the hospital, where the bullet was extracted. He had but a fair night, it was stated at the hospital, but no serious consequences are looked for unless complications develop later. —BUY IN NEW CASTLE—

Japanese Embargo To Be Considered

Senators Will Take Up Problem

State Department Leaves Senate Committee In Dark On Situation

FAILS TO SUPPLY INFORMATION ASKED

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The State Department has for six months failed to comply with a senate foreign relations committee request for an administration report on proposed legislation expediting the president to embargo Japanese goods, Committee Chairman Pittman (D) Nevada, revealed today.

Consequently, said Pittman, when the committee meets tomorrow to consider the pending Japanese embargo measures it will be in an almost unprecedented position—facing a vital foreign policy question wholly in the dark on the attitude of either the president or his State Department.

To Answer Pittman

The department was expected to answer Pittman's charge during the day. Unofficially, however, it was explained that the department might have decided to withhold a report until it could develop a true picture of the rapidly changing procedure of the Japanese in China, and particularly Japan's actions following termination of the American-Japanese Treaty of Commerce and Navigation, which expired last Friday midnight.

The treaty was abrogated by the United States six months ago because of Japan's disregard of American rights in China.

Simultaneously with Pittman's disclosure came reports from Republican quarters that G.O.P. senators may hold a party caucus to determine their own course of action on both the Japanese embargo legislation and the proposed loan to Finland.

to January 1, 1940, the number of consumers in New Castle has increased in excess of 17 per cent, and the miles of pipe in use more than 20 per cent.

This is not a large increase, but it is a steady one, always going in the right direction. The greater per cent of increase in the miles than in the number of consumers is a normal one for after a thickly settled area has been covered by pipe lines, the additional expansions are always into less developed areas.

er" technique which the Soviets introduced into this war and which has been used by the French and Germans along the western front.

The Finns used their loud speakers to exhort the Russian soldiers to "come over and surrender and get food in plenty."

Some Surrender

Russian officers ordered their men into dugouts, which were tightly shut, the moment the Finnish verbal barrage began.

But they were unable to prevent a number of Russians from taking the Finns at their word, crossing the no man's land and surrendering.

As they entered the Finnish lines, the Russian soldiers looked about them hungrily and muttered: "And now, food!"

During the aerial bombardments yesterday, Abo was subjected to a three-hour raid that killed at least 30 persons and wounded an undetermined number. At least fifteen houses were burned down.

Hospitals Wrecked

Two hospitals were wrecked during the raids. One of these was a Finnish army field hospital near Viborg, which was destroyed in flames. Twenty-three persons were killed including 19 wounded Finnish soldiers, two women nurses and two internes.

The roof of the hospital was marked with a red cross but witnesses said the emblem may have been covered with snow. An official statement did not identify the second hospital attacked by the Russian fliers.

The fortified Finnish seaport of Hangoe also was raided and it was reported that some 50 persons were killed and nearly 200 injured there.

In the new fighting north of Lake Ladoga, according to military reports, the Finns conquered a number of Russian bases and repulsed all Soviet counter-attacks. They also captured a great amount of war material and destroyed a supply column of 100 horses. Russians suffered heavy losses in the bitter fighting.

At Aittokki, the Russians tried to imitate the Finnish encirclement tactics but were defeated and 450 of them were killed.

Hundreds of Russian planes attacked the Carelian Isthmus, and the air raid alarm at Viborg was in force all day. Finnish pursuit planes, however, prevented the Russians from bombing the city proper.

B. & O. EMPLOYEES AND GUESTS HAVE DINNER-FROLIC

ed around over the world and I've seen as many ghost towns as any other man in the state, but New Castle isn't one of them. When I was mayor of the city before we were in the worst of the depression, but the city paid every obligation on time and in cash, and we're still paying cash. Not many other cities can say that."

Superintendent Baker

W. C. Baker, of Akron, O., was the next speaker. Said he, "the policy of the Baltimore and Ohio is to be a good neighbor with the communities we serve. The officials of New Castle have always been helpful and co-operative in their attitude and have evidenced their appreciation of the fact that the B. & O. payroll is what it is in this city. I am impressed by what your mayor told us of the financial policy of the city. This meeting like all others of its sort, is a good thing for all of us for it brings us together, imbues us with new vigor and provides an exchange of ideas."

A. H. Andrews, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association was the next speaker. "It is an inspiring thing to be at such a meeting as this," said he. "I want to congratulate both your company and the employees for the fine spirit of co-operation that is so evident tonight."

Here in New Castle there have been difficulties in the past but the people have gone about solving them in an intelligent fashion and have done much. Much is now being done by the organization I represent, but it occurs to me if New Castle is to grow, the work must be done by the people of New Castle, not by outsiders.

New Castle Boy

Harry Reese, master mechanic for the western lines was introduced. Characterizing himself still as "a New Castle boy" Mr. Reese praised the work of the local shops and said that because of the skill and efficiency of the local men, heavy repairs had been added to the junction shop. He urged every employee to add to the freight and passenger business.

Mr. Leo Whalen, chair woman of the woman's division of the C. T. P. here acknowledged her introduction and welcomed the guests.

H. L. Porter, division passenger agent of the Akron-Chicago Division said "I count everyone of you a solicitor for the Baltimore and Ohio. The passenger department appreciates what you have done and I know you will do more in the future in the way of increasing business on our lines."

Principal Speaker

The principal speaker of the evening was C. N. Fullerton head of the Co-operative Traffic Program of Baltimore, Md. "As members of one big family we are living in unity," said he, "all of us striving towards the same end, that of adding to the business of the lines."

Mr. Fullerton read a telegram from O. S. Lewis, freight traffic manager of the lines, announcing that the United States Supreme Court had just handed down its decision in the so-called "bond plan" refusing the appeal of a minority group of stockholders and upholding the plan.

The plan is one whereby the bond holders of the company agree to take a lowered rate of interest and thus aid the company's executives to keep the road out of bankruptcy proceedings. Mr. Fullerton said this would aid considerably in putting the B. & O. into the black this year.

"In the month of December, 1939, there were 47,000 employees on the Baltimore and Ohio," said Mr. Fullerton, the most for many months. I am happy at the contribution the C. T. P. has made to the increase in business and I want to congratulate the New Castle chapter for its fine work and ask it to continue."

Railroads Hit

"Due largely to the depression railroad business has been down," said he. "In 1938 we had little more than half as much freight business as we did in 1926 and less than one third the passenger business. The depression and competing forces of transportation were responsible. Notwithstanding that January is usually a slow month this month we have shown a fine increase. Our quota was 7702 car loads per day and we have been averaging 7,929."

"Every one of us can get a little business if we only think so. The opportunities are daily and I know you will take advantage of them."

Mr. Fullerton's address was the closing one of the evening. Following him, Emil Lelenko presented a flock of monkeyshines that pleased the crowd with a talented young swing singer doing her bit to put the show over.

A ball followed, lasting until after midnight.

CITY'S FUTURE IS DISCUSSED

Commerce and a representative community audience at a banquet in The Castleton.

Ruttenberg referred to industrial developments along different lines.

Most of the hour-long speech was devoted to the purpose behind his recent article, its background and the reaction to it. He said he was "surprised by the interest shown in it." The close was given over to "suggestions" humbly submitted "in the spirit of helpfulness" for New Castle.

Suggested Course

He told the audience a distinguished group of citizens should go from New Castle to United States Steel—those officers he praised as outstanding contributors to a more co-operative understanding between capital and labor—to insist that the corporation discharge its moral responsibilities to the city. He said, too, that the district congressman should be urged to submit legislation in the national House of Representatives calling for the federal rehabilitation of communities which have suffered recently.

President John P. Brinton presided last night and John Grittle president of the Lawrence County Industrial Union Council, which embraces all CIO units of the county, introduced Ruttenberg, whose headquarters are in Pittsburgh.

Seated with them at the speakers' table were Ross H. Kirkpatrick, local industrial relations chief of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co., Loyal J. "Ody" Foster, junior chamber vice president; Earl B. Reeves, junior chamber secretary, and W. Hubert Sadler, junior chamber treasurer.

Rev. Philip C. Pearson, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, pronounced the invocation.

TODAY'S Men of the Hour

Karl Hermann Frank, secretary of state of the protectorate of Czechoslovakia and leader of the Nazi SS troops, Frank, at a recent meeting in Prague told the assembled Nazi brown shirts that they would have to force the Czechs to fight for Germany, if the occasion demanded. Frank was one of the signatories to the ultimatum issued to the Czechs demanding suspension of martial law in the Sudeten areas on Sept. 13, 1938.

quite a few of them are going to be out of luck through failure to comply with the law. Inspection stations are doing a rushing business this week.

Members of the state motor police department are keeping a close watch on the local automobile inspection stations. The officers visit the various garages, watch the inspection procedure and inspect the garage records.

In driving about the city in the past few weeks, it has been noticed that there is considerable disregard for stop signs at intersections, by motorists.

More than one coal dealer has been seen about the city during the past week or so, delivering his product long after nightfall. So great is the present demand for coal that it keeps the dealers going full time.

Skating on the Shenango river, near the West Washington street bridge, is still a popular night diversion.

Compared to the kind of weather which has been dished out to us for the better part of the last month, the air this morning felt balmy and spring-like.

When the population census takers complete their work sometime during the present year, New Castle will probably be revealed as the center of a community of 100,000 population or over. Lawrence county population will pass the 100,000 mark this census, it is believed.

GERMAN WAR PLANES RAID SHIPPING ON COAST OF BRITAIN

appearance of German airplanes. But all were high-flying, and no bombs were dropped.

Three British fighting planes intercepted and drove off to sea a large German bomber. The Reich plane was sighted flying close to shore. But fled seaward as the pursuing British planes opened burst of machine gun fire.

Another plane, apparently German, flew over a coastal town in southeast England.

British planes also were seen chasing two German planes off the east coast of Scotland.

Seek To Starve Britain

These raids, it was believed, may precede an effort by Chancellor Hitler to starve Great Britain into submission by blasting her seaborne commerce in near-by waters.

This opinion spread among experts in London today following yesterday's German attacks, in which at least 18 German planes carried out widespread assaults British and neutral shipping and coastal areas.

Fourteen or more vessels were raided by the Germans and at least 14 lives were lost in the bombings which ranged from the Shetland islands southward to the Kentish coast. Several ships were struck by bombs but none was reported sunk.

British pursuit planes rose and battled the attackers, but so far as was known none of the German aircraft was shot down.

Plan Broached

The idea was broached Monday night at a dinner in The Castleton hotel. A number of problems common to the trucking industry were discussed and J. W. Haley, a representative of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission was present and spoke to the truckers on various rules of the commission.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

Dampening Hot Tempers
WE WANT our children always to be angry at the right things and at the right time. But we do not want them to cultivate habitual rage for no purpose, or to make their fits of temper a nuisance to themselves and others.

Our children, like ourselves, grow angry when their purposes are thwarted, and without their knowing what has occurred, they sometimes acquire the habit of violent rage to win their way. Many children, while very young, intimidate their parents into letting them do as they please.

We can help cure tantrums in children by disciplining ourselves to cease rewarding them for their rage. We can help prevent tantrums by learning not to let them command us by their anger. But our greatest power of prevention is to set the stage in such a way that they are not needlessly exercised in wrath.

In the first place, the better the child's physical health, the fewer the situations, all else equal, which will irritate him. When he is ill, you are so eager to ease his discomfort that you are often tempted to pamper him. Then he builds up bad habits that are hard to be corrected later. Try to keep the child from over-excitement and fatigue.

Early Knowledge
Let him learn as early as possible that he never can command you; that is, let him understand that you never will obey him. Also let him learn early, without the slightest doubt to him, that there are a few things he must have and a few things he must not have. Rarely say No or Don't, and don't repeat either. Seldom make positive commands; instead, make requests, but not too often.

Respect the child's ownership. Assume that what he has is his. When, at the age of seven or nine months, he has seized a dangerous or forbidden object, do not wrench it from his grasp; doing so exercises him in rage. Patiently persuade him to give it up. Slip another object in one hand if necessary, while you slowly get the forbidden object from the other hand and spirit it away. Mere attention to the new object causes him to release his grasp of the other object. As he gives it up, smile at him and approve him warmly. When, for instance, he hands you a pin he has picked from the floor, make him happy for co-operating.

Protect Property
See that no other person, child or adult, infringes on his property rights. Except for a few toys used in common by several young children, let each one have his own possessions. Then be a policeman, carefully protecting the ownership of each. Don't compel one child to give up to another. Persuade him and, as he acquiesces, be very liberal with praise. Be particularly cautious lest the baby make inroads upon the property of the older child.

When the older children have tasks assigned, make them definite. Mutual irritations are inevitable when two or more children are assigned to the same task.

Take time for emotional adjustments. Don't expect the little child to shift suddenly from one activity to another at your command. Such warnings as "in five minutes I shall come for you" or "as soon as you get the roof on that garbage we shall go" will often help you to avoid rousing anger in the child and win his co-operation.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. What is the basic term in wholesome sex instruction of the child at home?
A. To answer all his questions kindly and to win and keep his confidence, love and companionship.

Q. What is the most important relationship in the home?
A. Father-mother relationship.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles
WHITHER?
The next thing on the program fastening the shackles of governmental dictatorship on the hearts, arms and legs of formerly free Americans will be the visit of the Census Taker.

The man will come to your door in the next few days armed with a formidable looking document eight large pages long, printed in the smallest type made, and each line a question that you will be required to answer about yourself.

It is called the Census of Business, and at the top of the document in small black type, it says "Report is required by an act of Congress."

You begin by giving your name, name of firm, location, city, street and number, kind of business, whether you operate in your own or rented quarters, whether owned by individual or corporation, whether you or any member of your family works in the business, part or full time, whether you or any of your full or part time family workers have a drawing salary or just take what's left.

Then you are required to proceed stating the principal kind of merchandise you sell. What are your net sales, how much local or states sales tax you pay, how much of your business is on a cash basis and how much credit or installment, and what is your employment, share or ready-to-wear merchant you must tell how many suits or dresses you sell, and what is the average price.

I might go on with this tiresome and never-ending preview of the Census Taker's worksheet, the purpose being to arouse your curiosity, or better still, your indignation, against the impertinence of our present government, but my ever-present and earnest hope is that the day may soon come when the law-abiding and honorable citizens of this country will rise up on their feet.

Back in the days of Huck Finn and John Greenleaf Whittier, it seemed that kids could take their shoes or leave them alone, except when their mothers interfered. At any rate, the government didn't step in. We're for more of a better shoes for all of them, but we wonder if Miss Lenroot isn't putting too much stress on an old, established symbol—a cliché, in fact, of juvenile fiction—which had been innocently conceived and would be so accepted.

Spangler, the gloomy German who wrote "The Downfall of the Western Peoples" a few years ago, laboriously traced our collapse, in part, to the fact that we no longer dig our toes into the dirt.

Perhaps Whittier had some poetic presence of that, along with the common adult indulgence with the small boy's yen to get his shoes off in early spring.

We find ourselves thrown for a loss, whether we try to go through center or around the end, when we try to think our way through the problems raised by Miss Lenroot. Many and various are the poetic properties, or lack of them, of our folk-legend of childhood—the old swimmin' hole, with the kids ripping their shirts off in the stampede down the bank, "and the last man in is a horse thief!" the slingshot, or the slide whistled made from a willow stick; horsehairs in a bottle of turpentine to make you limber and get you a job with the circus; the kid hiding his red flannel underwear (ouch!) under the bed on March 1, and getting caught by his mother, and the devil to pay; charms to cure warts, bought from the old tinware peddler; digging up a buried lucky-bug to find hidden

"You're stronger than I thought you were," he murmured. "I never would have believed you could have lifted them off the stove."

"You don't chew tobacco, do you?" a woman asked a 1-year-old boy.

"No, but I could let you have a cigaret."

In this country over the telephone we say, "Hello," while in England they say "Are you there?" which seems more logical because if you're not there, then of course, there is no use going on with the conversation.

Ambition is never satisfied. When a boy grows big enough to wear his father's socks, he longs to grow into the old man's shirts and tuxedo.

What's What At A Glance

"Cotton Ed" Smith Senior Senator
Oldest Senator In Point Of Service
Succeeds To Title Once Held By Borah

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Senator William E. Borah ("The Lion of Idaho") being gone, Senator Edgar A. Guest ("Cotton Ed") Smith of South Carolina now is the upper congressional chamber's oldest member, in point of service—not in age; in the latter respect several other senators are his seniors, running up to Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, at considerably past 80.

Cotton Ed is a comparative youngster of 76. But he's served in the senate since 1909—only two years less than Borah.

Senator Borah's legislative interests always were quite different from Senator Smith's. For one thing, Borah was a Republican—a very irregular one, but he stuck persistently to the G. O. P. label. Smith never has been anything but a dyed-in-the-wool southern Democrat—though I wouldn't say he'd been an enthusiastic dealer.

And foreign affairs were Borah's especial complex. That is to say, his whole idea was to keep Uncle Sam out of foreign complications.

Opposed League
It will be recalled that he was one of the principal opponents of President Wilson's plan to get the United States into the league of nations. He was chairman of the senate's foreign affairs committee while his party was in a senate majority, and since the chamber's majority has been Democratic, he'd remained as the committee's senior G. O. P. member—and pretty influential.

Smith's preoccupation has been mainly with southern farming—"Cotton Ed." He's chairman of the senate agriculture committee. I don't mean to imply that he's been neglectful of northern soil culture, either—but essentially he's a Dixie-lander.

Regardless of party, seniority counts somewhat in the senate. So maybe it will have a bit of weight in the immediate future. Probably "Cotton Ed" hasn't the national significance that the "Idaho Lion" had, but he's a ponderable factor. He's a capable orator, too. And it's to be remembered that he's on the majority side, which Borah hadn't been, recently.

Foreign Relations
However, foreign relations are our outstanding problem today.

Senator Key Pittman is the upper house's chairman on that subject, and Pittman, of course, is a Roosevelt administration. Borah wasn't. F. D.'s an isolationist, to be sure, but not with the energy that Borah was.

Now Borah, as senior Republican minority member of the senate's foreign relations committee, is succeeded by Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California as senior Republican member of the committee.

Hiram and Borah were side-kicks in the fight against American participation in the League of Nations. Others helped them, but they were the two original veterans. Johnson is the last of an senatorial survivor.

Against the War
Quite a few senators voted against going into the war of 1914. Senators Robert M. La Follette (the elder), Borah, Johnson and others did so. So did Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska. He says he's through—at his age. He'll retire at his present term's end. He was against the last war—but at present? This thing involves Finland.

Plenty of original American pacifists are pro-Finns.

Senator Johnson, as ranking minority member of the foreign relations group, will be an event more formidable character in the upper legislative chamber than he has been hitherto, and he has classed as a heavyweight for a long time. Though on the minority side, he counts substantially. As an isolationist, he's the limit. For instance, he objects to the kind of neutrality the Rooseveltians believe in and today have on Uncle Sam's statute books. The Californian thinks it allows the president too much latitude. What he favors is the strict article.

Borah's death leaves a Republican vacancy on the senate's foreign relations committee. Predictions are that Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota will get the place. He's as much of an isolationist as Borah was and as Johnson is.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Since at last "all God's chillun go shoes" a Federal report with a picture of barefooted school children or the cover becomes a label on American childhood, and Miss Katherine Lenroot, head of the Children's Bureau, has the covers torn off before she will allow distribution.

In the "Ode to the Barefoot Boy," Whittier didn't go into that. Perhaps it would have been tactful for him to have hinted that the lad had plenty of shoes and was going barefooted just because he liked to, or perhaps in the service of poetic license. However, with this pressure of other matters, the question never has arisen to plague the republic, and there has, as yet, been no society to have the poem torn from the schoolbooks.

The above report was on "Children in a Democracy" issued by the White House Conference on Children. Miss Lenroot said she "thought it was unfair to American school children to represent them as going to their classes barefoot."

Back in the days of Huck Finn and John Greenleaf Whittier, it seemed that kids could take their shoes or leave them alone, except when their mothers interfered. At any rate, the government didn't step in. We're for more of a better shoes for all of them, but we wonder if Miss Lenroot isn't putting too much stress on an old, established symbol—a cliché, in fact, of juvenile fiction—which had been innocently conceived and would be so accepted.

treasure, wishing on a white horse, and, above all, the ecstasy of bare feet in the early spring mud.

That was the story of "Children in a Democracy" a generation or two ago. It is part of the treasured annals of our national youth. But if the aging Daniel Boone should explore his youth, he might find a shoe factory fouling the creek which feeds the old swimming hole. Goethe says "only the symbol is real." One can't be certain. But as to the barefoot boy, it seems that we might just as well

Ohio Governor At Washington

Severely Criticizes Policies Of Roosevelt But Wishes Him Happy Birthday

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. — Ohio's governor, John W. Bricker, a possible GOP "dark horse" presidential nominee, completed a whirlwind visit to the capital today after severely criticizing President Roosevelt but wishing him "a happy birthday and many of them."

Bricker accused the president of "playing politics" with old age pension money. He said American institutions were threatened when an "arrogant bureaucracy" will use his temporary control over other people's money to satisfy a personal whim or serve a narrow partisan political purpose. He said Ohio would "go to court" to seek the social security funds withheld from it by the federal government.

Bricker made his charges before the Ohio society of Washington's annual dinner. Senator Robert Taft, First Ohio, an avowed GOP presidential candidate, introduced him. During the day he was entertained at a reception in the Taft home, conferred with a number of Ohio members of congress and held a press conference.

The evident friendship between Bricker and Taft during the visit gave renewed strength to reports that they have an understanding to the effect that if Taft is unsuccessful in securing the Republican presidential nomination he will throw his strength to Bricker. The governor said he would vote for Taft at the national convention.

hind legs and refuse to be further badgered and bluffed by a government that has gone completely "screwy."

Under this Business Census, the government is audaciously prying into the innermost business secrets of its private citizens. Ordinarily, it isn't a good rule to recommend defiance of the law, but obnoxious laws are piling up in this country to such an extent that they are suffocating its citizens and rapidly driving private business to the wall. Business can no longer obey these laws and continue to exist. With all these intimate details of every citizen's business affairs in government possession, the next step will be for a dictatorial ruler to move in and take over complete control. Or, in the case of "emergency," which can be declared by any President, and which is already declared in this country, the President can do almost anything he chooses with the people or their property.

Meanwhile, there is a growing disposition among leading citizens to repulse this invasion of their private rights by refusing to give the information called for in the census form, and also by refusing to sign the report.

The assurance is printed on the report that "the Act makes it unlawful for the Bureau to disclose any facts" after the Census Taker, all of which is too ridiculous for serious acceptance, because no one under the sun, not even the proverbial Philadelphia lawyer, would be able to trace a leak of information to its source, unless the guilty agent were an idiot or a fool.

The Human Side Of The News

let it ride, as long as we know that more of our children have good shoes than any children ever had before—which, we must admit, is important.

Crowding the shoe factory, on the same page, was a story about the American chestnut tree staging a comeback, after the deadly blight of 15 or 20 years ago. We always had an idea that it would. But I suppose we will have to wait off the village smithy. The smithy under the spreading chestnut tree is a good runner-up for our cherished barefoot boy poem. Perhaps the chestnut tree is more clearly specified in life's blueprint than the smithy. Certainly it will not be displaced by what we are pleased to call "technological advance." No invention, no synthesized tree is going to put it out of business.

But the poem or the pictures does not constitute a libel on the citizen who patronizes a garage instead of a blacksmith shop. No matter what our sociological drifts and urgencies, we may winnow out whatever poetry we may from the years that have sped, and maybe the Temporary National Economic committee won't catch us at it. In the meantime, more shoes for all the kids, and if any of them in our custody beat the gun and shed them on April 1, we won't be looking.

They tell us radio serials are "designed to please women" but since when have women preferred tales of woe and misery?

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, toasted cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Walls, Mrs. Walter W. Duff, Mrs. W. H. Hanger, Mrs. J. Elder Bryan, Mrs. Harry L. Gormley, Mrs. B. F. Butler, and Mrs. Marcus Reuchtwanger, are supervising the work of cutting the garments and will aid with the production.

A large quantity of yard goods has been received and stored in the headquarters, which will be made into garments as rapidly as possible, and sent to New York to be shipped to the war area.

In addition to the yard goods, yarn has been received, and Mrs. Robert M. Garland, chairman of knitting has been busy, assisted by Mrs. J. W. McIlwraith, head of the Volunteer Motor Corps, in distributing the yarn to those who are engaged in knitting warm garments. Later on, it is expected to form a class for instruction for those who wish to learn to knit and to assist in this worthwhile project.

Many more women will be needed for this work. Mrs. John Elliott, chairman of Volunteer Service for the Chapter announces, and any woman who can spare a day or even a few hours a day, will be welcomed in this great effort. They are asked to enroll at the Red Cross Chapter House, 39 North Beaver street.

It is expected to keep the production room open from now until the project is completed, and the force of women at work will be greatly augmented in a few days.

Philanthropist Taken By Death

Edward Stephen Harkness Who Gave Away Many Millions Is Dead

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Edward Stephen Harkness, the shy and retiring financier who devoted his lifetime to distributing an estimated $100,000,000 in gifts to hospitals, colleges, libraries and other cultural and welfare organizations was widely mourned today by the countless beneficiaries of his philanthropies. Harkness died in his New York home at age of 66 after an illness of two weeks.

The bulk of his fortune was inherited from his father, Stephen V. Harkness, a partner of John D. Rockefeller, Sr.

Harkness' vast business interests were overshadowed by his philanthropies. He established a large office to investigate possibilities of disposing of his fortune to various organizations. He remained far from the public eye and in his lifetime never granted an interview nor made a public address.

Milk Makes Kiddies Healthier, Smarter

Experiments Reveal Lactical Fluid Improves Scholastic Ability

(International News Service) LONDON.—Tests held on 8,000 school children have proved that milk besides making them healthier also makes them smarter.

In a report of the Milk Nutrition Committee, to which special significance is attached owing to the war and the abundance of milk supplies in Britain, the committee states that these experiments were held over a period of twelve months.

In some schools children were supplied with one-third of a pint of milk daily. Others received two-thirds of a pint.

About a quarter of the children received biscuits instead of milk. This group served as a basis from which the milk-fed children were measured.

Periodically they were measured and examined. Intelligence tests were also applied to them.

Results prove that the milk supplement produced consistent improvement in height, weight, chest measurement muscular strength and general nutrition.

The tests also showed that milk promotes intelligence and scholastic ability.

Pennsylvania May Soon Lead Nation In Potato Output

Experiments Being Conducted In Cross-pollination By N. Y. A. Youths

(International News Service) HARRISBURG.—Pennsylvania soon may outstrip Maine and Idaho as a producer of fine potatoes.

To this end 40-odd youths on a 57-acre patch high up in Potter county have been experimenting for more than a year with cross-pollination. Their work is an NYA project supervised by Professor Earnest L. Nixon of Penn State college.

Aim of the intensive cross-pollination of hundreds of varieties is the ultimate development of a potato of outstanding mealiness, superior flavor and the proper size and shape for marketing, all grown in plants which produce large yields.

Already the product of "Camp Potato," as the project has been appropriately dubbed, has been pronounced superior to any potato ever grown in Pennsylvania before.

And potatoes of the past have always rated pretty high, according to state agricultural authorities.

To date, two full crops of super-potatoes have been harvested at the camp. The 1939 crop has been stored for comparison with the even finer potatoes anticipated next year.

MORE ABOUT VACCINATION

Yesterday I referred to how outbreaks of infectious diseases have fallen back before the increase in the use of and improvement of vaccines and serums that build up immunities against the germs that cause these infections. As I told you, I have seen vaccination reduce small pox from almost an annual scourge to almost a rarity in my country district.

Public antipathy and prejudice against vaccination is dying out, fortunately, and now we vaccinate the school children at an early age as we can and repeat the inoculations at the necessary intervals.

But vaccination at primary school age really isn't early enough. I advise parents to have their children vaccinated before they are six.

One reason for this advice is that vaccination in a very young child has a comparatively light reaction. With each increasing year in age, reactions are more marked by fever and general illness of a few days' duration.

Also, if a child isn't vaccinated until he is six—school age—he is unprotected during the years when he is most susceptible to infection. I told you yesterday how I converted one skeptical French Canadian father to vaccination by a demonstration upon myself. In explaining this idea, in the course of seeing that all school children are inoculated, I'm afraid I've played some "dirty tricks" on school teachers.

Naturally, when you go into a school to vaccinate the children, a few of them will be very frightened at the prospect. When such a school visit produced several cases of such fright, the teacher helped me out. "Vaccinate me in front of them, doctor, and that will reassure them," he whispered to me. I did it and it worked beautifully. Ever since then, when I go into a school room and some of the children are frightened, I suggest that the teacher get vaccinated just to show his pupils that it's alright. Sometimes the teachers try to squirm out of it, but mostly they are glad to set their pupils a good example.

One priest who used to make the rounds of the district with me, to persuade his parishioners to have their children vaccinated, also served me as a demonstrator. He loved to play jokes on me. For example, he would tell others in front of me that people didn't have full confidence in me as a doctor, so he had to go around with me. Well, one day we ran into a particularly tough family that didn't want to be vaccinated because they couldn't understand it. Then I thought of a way of turning the tables on the priest.

"Father Murphy will be glad to let me vaccinate him just to show you how much he believes in it," I suggested. I saw my friend the padre give me a funny look, but the idea struck the fancy of the father and mother of the family. Both declared that if he would be vaccinated then and there, they would have their children done too. So I vaccinated him I did, and the family too.

Many the laugh that priest and I have had over it since. In fact, it worked so well that we did it many times after that, because as you probably know, vaccination when it once takes effect, won't take again for a number of years. He was in no danger as a result of the multiple vaccinations.

In addition to hole punching, plastering and general dust raising in the prothonotary's office something new developed Monday morning. Workmen cut a hole in the floor for the purpose of getting down to place a beam under the width of the court house. By now John A. Edgar's force is wondering if they will ever get back to a normal existence when life isn't punctuated with the tapping of hammers and the air is free of dust.

Putting the finishing touches to the budget, the county commissioners and the county controller met in session Monday and checked estimates. The meeting did not complete the budget but came close enough to it to hazard the prediction that the cut in tax millage this year will be one and one half mills, one mill from the general fund and one half mill from the institution fund, a reduction of twenty-five per cent.

SOLD MINE TOO SOON

(International News Service)
ST. LOUIS—Josiah C. Boggs who once sold for a modest sum a gold mine where a $1,000,000 vein later was discovered, died here recently. Boggs, 78 had been a retired railroad telegrapher. About fifty years ago he financed his brother in a mine in Colorado. After the mine had been worked unsuccessfully for two years, it was sold. Shortly afterward the rich vein was struck.

Report Woman Guiding Campaign Of Dewey

By JANE COCHRAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Shattering political precedent, a woman-tail, dynamic Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms—today is guiding the campaign of a presidential aspirant, Thomas E. Dewey.

Co-manager with J. Russell Sprague, Mrs. Simms, who calls herself the "oldest living Republican," is the first woman to occupy such a prominent position in a national campaign.

Politics is nothing new to the daughter of Mark Hanna, "the man who made president." She has attended every Republican convention since 1896, first saw active work in national headquarters of a political party in 1912 with the Progressive party during the revolt of Theodore Roosevelt, and during her long political career has either spoken or worked in every congressional district in the United States.

Not Marshalling Women
Her position in the Dewey campaign is not that of marshalling women's votes or the support of women, she's quite opposed to creating women's divisions.

"Let's not talk about women's activities in the campaign," Mrs. Simms said. "The same qualifications in a candidate appeal today to both men and women. Both need training in practical politics."

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Jan. 30.—The Boston Evening American said Monday afternoon in a special copyright dispatch from Washington:

"Franklin D. Roosevelt may be the Democratic candidate for vice president."

"This statement was made today by a White House intimate whose identity must remain secret."

"He said the President has considered the plan, and discussed it with a very few close associates, and finds it attractive in certain features."

"Secretary of State Cordell Hull would head the ticket as the Democratic candidate for President if the plans materialize, the American's informant said."

"Belief that the President would run for a third term if convinced he can win, but that this chance is dwindling, was also expressed by this informant."

"The alternate plan secretly considered makes the President the second-place running mate of the secretary of state. Many of the President's closest associates and political observers generally have never even dreamed he would consider the second-place nomination."

"A Hull-Roosevelt ticket, according to points said to have been considered, would eliminate major third-term opposition, retain the magic of the Roosevelt name and personality and solidify present direction of the nation's foreign policy."

and education on political matters."

Her wide field of friends and acquaintances made during her years of political experience has been a great help to her during the pre-convention campaign. Her first husband, Joseph Medill McCormick, was first Republican senator from Illinois and later representative and her second husband, Albert Gallatin Simms, was also a member of the House of Representatives.

Spoke In McKinley Campaign

She made her first political speech in a small town in South Dakota at the age of 16, filling in for her father whose voice had given out from too many speeches during the McKinley campaign.

Mrs. Simms was also an ardent worker for women's suffrage, campaigning to have women considered as individuals rather than grouped as a sex.

The quality of leadership that is so apparent in the tall distinctive woman almost upset a suffrage parade held in New York. A high wind whipped a banner out of the hands of two young women who were helping Mrs. Simms support it and blew her down a cross-street.

Running at top speed to keep from being blown off her feet, she was amazed to see the whole parade turn to follow her. Regaining her balance, she had to make a quick turn to get the parade back into the proper street.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 30.—Pennsylvania would have only a comparatively slight unemployment relief problem today if WPA grants were as liberal now as they were in the closing months of the Earle administration, the Republican state committee contends today.

WPA expenditures in Pennsylvania in November, 1938, were $16,800,000, and in November, 1939, were down to $7,872,000, while in the same period direct relief payments increased only $339,000, from $6,317,000 in 1938 to $6,656,000 in 1939, it was pointed out.

"The figures show that the remarkable industrial upsurge during the first year of the Earle administration has absorbed the $9,000,000 per month decline in WPA grants to Pennsylvania," read a committee statement.

"Had the federal government provided for as large a proportion of the unemployed in 1939 as in 1938, Pennsylvania's direct relief load would now be down at the lowest point since establishment of the state emergency relief board in 1932."

"Instead WPA expenditures in the state have been cut faster than industry has picked up the load, even though the industrial expansion has been almost phenomenal during the past year."

Scientists report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Also acts as a mild Antacid and Kidney Stimulant. Gives you MORE for your money, too! (International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—A resolution repealing the 1939 relief act provision compelling "furloughs" for relief workers after 18 continuous months of employment was introduced in the Senate Monday by Senator Donaher (R) of Connecticut.

Senator McKellar (D) of Tennessee, blocked Donaher's effort to have the measure acted on immediately and it was referred to the Senate appropriations committee.

"We have reports of the works relief administration," said Donaher "that of the hundreds of thousands of workers furloughed by this section, only 13 percent have been able to find other jobs."

"This congress ought to immediately correct this so that these people may again be employed."

New Wilmington Team Among Few Undeleted Aggregations In District

THREE LOOP TIFFS SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Barring an unforeseen total collapse, New Wilmington high's sensational sphere wizards loom as the Section 20 champs of the WPIAL for the second consecutive year.

Despite the fact that the cage season is just passing the mid-stripe span, the "Greyhounds" are way ahead with six loop victories and no defeats. Johnny Eackson's proteges belong to that charmed circle embracing undefeated cage aggregations. To date, New Wilmington has brushed aside everything in its path, 12 foes to be exact.

With six more league frays on the card, the college town cage artists can't be overtaken, provided they cop victories over Union and Bessemer. The way Minner and company are functioning, New Wilmington has a better than 50-50 chance of journeying to the Pitt Stadium for the colorful tourney minus a defeat.

After missing the WPIAL championship by a fraction of a minute, those depressed New Wilmington lads vowed right then and there that they would come back and grab this season's prize. Right now, other Class B entrants are figuring how to halt the stampeding miniature Titans.

In league games carded tonight, New Wilmington entertains Mt. Jackson. The "Jacks" crashed into the winning column by surprising East Brook. While the loop leaders shape up as odds on favorites, the "Jacks" may prove troublesome.

One of the most exciting clashes of the season is predicted when Union township and Shennango clash on the East New Castle court. The game pairs two of the most bitter athletic rivals in the county. Bessemer trots into neighboring Wampum to swish nets with the plucky Wampum high edition. The fray is expected to be loaded with thrills. East Brook is not scheduled.

Afield And Astream

Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association

By GEORGE SILLMAN

Our Birds Need Your Help Now! Mr. Sportsman, what are you doing for our little feathered friends? Are you one of the crowd who is just sitting by the warm fireside, worrying about keeping warm, or are you amongst those who have been out, seeking the birds, and trying to help them along by making a shelter or two. Giving them some feed at a time like this. This is the time of the season when conservation work is the most valuable. A single pair of quail saved now, will give the farmer and sportsman liberal rewards in return this summer and fall by killing of insects and making sport for the bird dog lover.

Our Boy Scouts have already been very active in this bird feeding program. They are doing their good deed to themselves and to our wildlife.

When building your food shelter, remember to leave two openings, so the game can escape in case some other animal may be preyed on in the shelter. It can be constructed very easily. Covered with old corn cobs or red trash. Straw, hay or anything available to keep the snow off the feed. Grain is cheap. Green trimmings can be secured from your grocery store for the asking. Game will welcome your visits and they are hungry. We made one usual run yesterday, and on the way back we visited our shelters and found several of them cleaned out completely. Each shelter had its callers. As we left one shelter, we could see the pheasants coming in to feed before we were out of sight.

The birds can be saved. But it depends on each and every sportsman. Birds are heavy eaters, feeding them is often the safest plan. Build your shelter on a good south-easterly slope, well protected, covered and filled with greens, grain and grit. This good and timely deed will insure us a healthy breeding stock of birds for 1940. Do your part, and do it today, tomorrow never comes.

WILD DOGS CAUSE MUCH EXCITEMENT

Ol' "Pappy" Gibson, didn't know whether he did the best thing or not, when he and his party brought the "wild-dogs" home with them last week. He tells me that his public kept him up 'till the wee hours of the morning showing them the dogs. Then the next morning, before he had even time to roll over on the other hip, someone was knocking at his kitchen door wanting to see 'the dogs'. He got up and showed them for the last time. Donning his "outdoor" clothes he took the dogs for their last ride. Several have asked me if we were going to keep the dogs, or have them "stuffed". Well I think "Gibby" stuffed them with the right dope. A load of number two's.

Start Of Last Half Of Section Three Finds Locals In Valley Tonight

NEW LINEUP IS CLICKING NICELY

New Castle High school basketball team will leave the city at 5:45 o'clock tonight for the Beaver valley to oppose the New Brighton High team at Dawes gym in New Brighton. The reserve teams of both schools tangle in the preliminary at 7:15 o'clock.

This will mark the start of the final round in Section Three. The locals won four and dropped two the first round, and are entrenched in third place a game back of Beaver Falls.

New Lineup Clicking

The New Castle revamped lineup that faced the South High team here last Saturday night looks very good. They will no doubt make it plenty tough for the boys in Section Three the rest of the season.

Gennock and Cowden will handle the forward spots, with Bucci working nicely at center and Christopher and Thomas as the guards. Kelly is a first string sub and a good one. He will fit in very nicely at either forward or guard spot. Cooper also is developing, as an understudy to Bucci at center.

Hope For Win

New Castle defeated New Brighton here in the opening game of Section Three and hope to repeat tonight. A win for the locals will keep them in the race as Ambridge and Beaver Falls tangle tonight at Ambridge and a Beaver Falls win will complicate things a bit.

The local teams will go to New Brighton by bus, leaving the new terminal. The other game in Section Three tonight will have Aliquippa playing at Ellwood City.

Sutherland To Coach Dodgers

Owner Dan Topping Of Brooklyn Pro Football Team Signs Willy Scot

SIGNS FOR THREE YEAR CONTRACT

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30.—After 25 years in the collegiate football ranks, Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, one of the nation's foremost mentors, today had turned professional.

The former head coach at the University of Pittsburgh, who resigned in 1939 during an athletic purge, has agreed to a three-year contract with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Dan R. Topping, youthful millionaire owner of the club announced here.

Salary terms were not disclosed, although it was reported freely that Sutherland was to receive $10,000 annually. Formal signing of the contract will take place in New York City next Wednesday.

To Name Assistant

The tall "silent Scot," who will become the first "big name" coach to join the pro ranks, said he was undecided on his assistants, of which there will be two.

"I think," he said, "both my aides will be players who played for me while I was at Pitt."

In succeeding George (Potsy) Clark as tutor of the Dodgers, Sutherland, who played two games of professional football at one time in his career, said he would "proceed slowly and carefully" since there were "things about coaching pros I'll have to find out."

"I'll have to find out about the pro game," he remarked. "I can't see where there is a vast difference between it and college football, and the league is well organized, whereas when I played it was not."

Pulaskis-Avators To Play Tonight

Tonight at the K. Pulaski Hall, the K. Pulaski team will meet the Avator Club of Youngstown. In the preliminary game the K. Pulaski Reserves will play the Jews of the House League at the "Y". The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

(International News Service)
STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 30.—The motion picture camera, which doesn't miss a movement, is being used to show industrial engineering students at the Pennsylvania State College how to speed up the assembly of common industrial products.

Using strictly factory methods, the students assemble small fixtures having 12 or more parts while the unfailing camera records their movements and the time. A clock-face in front of the students pictures the passing of time on the film, even to the 1-2000 of a minute.

After the films are completed, minute studies are made to find ways of speeding up the process.—BUY IN NEW CASTLE.

FROM ME TO YOU
By MESEALL

May I take this opportunity to make a personal birthday greeting to the man I'm proud to call Father:

Would I could bring you some beautiful gift, Something to gladden you, something to charm, A blessing to brighten, to cheer to uplift, A shield to protect you from the shadow of harm!

Had I the power I'd gather for you All the world's treasures of good and of fair, All things to comfort you—friends that are true, Joys that are purest, and pleasures most rare.

These at your feet on your birthday I'd lay, Fill its swift moments with quiet delight, Make it divine from its earliest ray, From the gleam of its morn to the dusk of its night.

Empty my hands, but my heart holds for you All the good wishes of heaven and earth, Fragrant as roses at dawn in the dew— With these let me crown the glad day of your birth!

Last week we mentioned that panhandlers were using the federal building to practice their trade. . . if anyone finds this happening again will you please take time to inform the postmaster. You will be a good American citizen doing his duty. Thanks.

Remember this first of January when thunder was heard. It might be wise to write down in your little book that Thunder in January means cold weather ahead. At least that is what we had this year after it rained rain in the clouds.

TONIGHT thousands of people will dance... their money will (money spent on tickets) go to a worthy cause. Good old United States of America... the best land in the world. Bar none.

—Changes Are Most All Fractional

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The stock market was spotty today, with most leaders giving up fractions after a mixed opening. Volume again was small.

Bethlehem lost an early modest gain, while Youngstown Steel & Tube and Republic each slipped a fraction.

Chrysler dropped more than a point before meeting support. Case was off 2 points and Douglas Aircraft lost about a point.

Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, American Smelting, Kennecott, International Harvester, United Aircraft, American Telephone, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific and General Electric incurred small losses.

Bucking the trend for minor gains were North American, Union Pacific, Standard Oil of N. J., and Texas Corp.

Lawrence Avenue Building Guttled By Fire Today

Overheated Furnace Is Cause Of Fire At Sam Balmi Residence This Morning

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 30.—A two-story brick building located at 714 Lawrence avenue and owned by Sam Balmi was gutted by fire caused by overheated furnace at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

Before being discovered by members of the family, who were asleep in the second floor apartment, the fire had burned through the outside wall and was gaining great headway on the roof.

When firemen arrived, the entire roof was ablaze and being concerned for saving the nearby structures in the business block, chief Harry Wolfe called the National Tube company department for assistance and they responded immediately.

Fortunately it was a still night, and the firemen with their acknowledged efficiency had the fire controlled in less than a hour.

The first floor was occupied by the Book furniture shop, which just moved into the building a week ago. There was little damage to the ground floor but the contents of the upstairs apartment were badly damaged by water.

The building was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

Girl Scout Rally Is Fine Success

Delightful International Program Featuring Meeting At U. P. Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 30.—The second series of rallies of all the girl scout troops of the community took place last evening in the basement of the United Presbyterian church with the Nightingale troop as hostesses and proved to be a pleasant evening of fellowship and educational value.

Some 150 girls attended the session which began with the presentation of colors and in investiture service by the Bob-O-Link troop.

Four songs by Miss Florence Dougherty contributed an amusing group of songs and pantomimes after which the Blue Sky Adventurers presented the assembly with a varied display of articles from Poland.

Relph presented a piano solo, "Sleigh Ride" after which Vera Ann Fleeger of the Blue Jay troop read a letter from a little girl in Holland, describing vividly her country and its customs.

In keeping with the international program being fostered by the national scout movement, Joseph Baroni of this city, gave an instructive address on Hungary, which is the size of the state of Ohio and has maintained friendly relations with the U. S. since 1851.

His description of their homelife, foods, climate and music was most educational and he collected his talk by displaying a collection of beautiful handwork.

Priscilla Veres pleased the group with a Hungarian song after which they were charmed with a Hungarian folk dance in costume by Helen Robosky, Bertha Pavlin, Priscilla and Eugene Veres. Miss Mary Boy was the accompanist.

Aided by the Council of Jewish Women, the Nightingale girls served a refreshing lunch as the final feature.

For the next rally, a style show of native costumes of foreign countries will be arranged under the general supervision of Mrs. Emmett Lieben-dorfer.

Elks Arrange Party For Women

Some two hundred guests are expected for the event which will begin with a dinner to be followed by a program after which cards and bingo have been arranged.

H. E. King and Bruce Myers are co-chairmen of the affair, anticipated with pleasure by the guests.

Major Al Williams Discusses Huge Part Of Planes In War

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 30.—For the first time in the history of war, fighting nations are afraid to use their greatest weapon, the air arm that is on the verge of taking control of military power, because of its awful destructive power, because of Williams, nationally known aviation authority, told members of the Foreman's club of the National Tube company and townspeople in a time-lapse address last evening at the Shelby auditorium.

The air raids of some 18 to 24 planes that are reported today are mere heckling, he declared, when it is known that the aggressive nations have thousands of ships in readiness. Air power is designed to break the will of the people in the cities and will not be directed against trained fighting power. A true air raid would be complete paralysis of municipal machinery and he cited the isolation and paralysis of the city of Pittsburgh during the flood as only a "drop in the bucket" compared to that which an air raid could accomplish.

In London, Paris and other great cities of Europe, family life, the basis of society, has been broken up with millions of children sent to the country for air raid protection. The major problem of these countries is a means to provide quick stability against the demoralizing effects of planes in the sky.

Accomplished by Air Power

Italy's conquest of Ethiopia accomplished in seven months, when English and French military powers anticipated slow moving troops over trackless, mapless country, predicted a four year conflict, was due to flying delivery service and the destructive force of planes. The war in Spain continued so long because it was a civil war and Franco was too wise and far-sighted to destroy the municipal machinery that he desired for his party, the blond fire stressed.

The country that wants to be safe will provide itself with air arms that will frighten any invader. "Selling the new religion of wings" is discouraging, and "we have to fight

Merchants Meet Monday Night

Number Of Matters Discussed At Session In Chamber Of Commerce Rooms

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 30.—The Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce held their regular monthly meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night. President Robert Shearer presided over the meeting.

After a lengthy discussion on the Borough Ordinance number 504, which pertains to peddlers procuring a license to sell their wares, it was unanimously agreed by the merchants to consult the burgess relative to the merchants employing a regular officer for 30 days to wage a war on peddlers who are operating in the Borough without a license.

Every peddler who sells merchandise that he himself did not manufacture or produce is subject to obtaining a license from the Borough. If such peddlers take orders for merchandise and deliver same, later, they are protected by the state law.

Dollar day plans were discussed by chairman Michael Edelman of the Dollar Day committee.

Secretary Denny Schill discussed the industrial outlook and the advantages that will come therefrom to the merchants.

The Borough Hand Bill ordinance was read to the division and merchants were informed that it was still in effect and that the recent case held by the supreme court referred to religious materials.

President Shearer informed the merchants that the next five monthly meetings would be in the form of dinners at the various nationality clubs of the community.

Pennsylvania Club To Dine On Chicken And Talk About Fish

(Contributed)

It looks as though the boys of the Pennsylvania club couldn't restrain their fellowship any longer. They announce an informal meeting and banquet at a downtown restaurant. The date is Thursday, February 1, at 6:30 o'clock.

It is my belief that there will be little talk of war or politics in this gathering. The secretary has advised me that the conversations will be held strictly to facts.

Sam DeFilippo has promised "the bunch" a chicken dinner but some members are skeptical of this after Sam's familiarity with the gulls last season.

Of Social Nature

The meeting will be of a social nature and little business will be discussed, however many of the members have requests to put before the group. William Moody would like to have hourly weather reports from the government while in Canada. H. R. Huston wants lanterns put on all dangerous rocks surrounding the camp. Dr. Penton would like a library added to the club's equipment, with special information on "how to cast." "Dinty" Moore and Leon Drumm, a couple of quiet boys, would like a 9 o'clock curfew installed. Bertram Davis would like a pay station telephone put in. Lew Hasely is going to make a plea that a tailor be admitted to the club after last summer's crisis.

In addition to these requests Jim Pattison and W. H. Shipley have volunteered to give a debate on whether softer wood should be used on boat seats. W. R. McKee will demonstrate a contrivance (patent pending) which is absolutely guaranteed to keep John Pattison in a boat.

Play Golf Course

William Walsh, George Long, George Winter and Fred Kay were delegated to make plans for an eighteen hole golf course to be laid out on Pennsylvania Island. They have prepared a discussion on the subject for the banquet. Jimmy Lindsey has been making a research on why Pike have such sharp teeth and may be induced to comment on it. Dave Kay has invented a small, explosive mine to be fastened to the hook. He claims that they are positively deadly to rock bass.

All of the members are talking over their plans for next summer. Lou Genkinger, George Bolinger, Jimmy Atkinson and Tom Hitchcock are going up early this year to get the corn and early beans started in the club's garden. T. C. Post has donated a lawnmower and it will be well used this summer in getting the lawn in shape.

James Hinich saw a mosquito one evening just after it had seen him, so he has promised the Club a barrel of Gulf Spray.

Like Camp Supper

Max Ludwig, and Henry Rapold will likely discuss their favorite topic, fishing in Spider Lake. Quincy McBride and H. G. Preston are busy tuning up their outboard motors for a continuation of last summer's races.

Joe Alexander and Wilbur Chapman can't go back on their plans since hundreds of the Canadian fish have come to rely upon them for food during the summer months.

Judge Chambers and Jared Reis have been with "the bunch" so long that all the gulls in the Georgian Bay know them by their first names.

The boys hope to make this banquet as much like a supper at camp as possible and I am sure that they will succeed in bringing the Pennsylvania Club to New Castle for a night.

Federal Income Tax In Nutshell

HOW TO AVOID COMMON ERRORS

The period for the filing of income-tax returns covering the calendar year 1939 began January 1 and ends at midnight of March 15, 1940. To file early is of mutual benefit to the Government and the taxpayer. Within this period are filed annually millions of individual income-tax returns, a large proportion of which report income subject to the tax. The latter contain a considerable percentage of errors, which if uncorrected by the auditor would result to the disadvantage of the taxpayer. Many are errors of computation easily discovered on the face of the return, which usually is accompanied by a payment of more than the amount of tax due. In other returns it is readily discernible that the taxpayer has failed to take advantage of the personal exemption, credit allowed for dependents, or deductions from gross income to which he is entitled.

To avoid these and other errors, the Bureau of Internal Revenue, urges careful reading of the instructions accompanying the forms for filing the returns. Additional information, if needed, may be obtained at the office of a collector of internal revenue, deputy collector, or an internal revenue agent in charge. A taxpayer who applies to a revenue officer for assistance in preparing his return should take with him a copy of his prior year return. Also, as a further aid in the preparation of a correct income-tax return for the year 1939, the Bureau has prepared a series of short newspaper articles, of which this is the first, advising the salaried man, wage earner, professional and business man—in fact, every class of individual taxpayer—of the requirements and privileges under the income-tax law as interpreted under the latest regulations, rulings, and decisions.

German Denials Are Taken Lightly

International News Service Staff. ROME, Jan. 30.—Denials from Berlin of charges of persecution of Catholic priests and others in German-occupied Poland drew a sharp retort today from the newspaper Avvenire D'Italia, published at Bologna.

The charges, including allegations that priests and hundreds of Polish residents of the area have been shot or jailed, were contained in a report submitted to Pope Pius XII with the authorization of Auguste Cardinal Hlond, primate of Poland.

Excerpts from the report have been broadcast by the Vatican radio leading to the denials from Berlin. "We should like to believe that the German denial corresponds with the truth," Avvenire commented.

"But where the Nazi fight against the Catholic church is concerned, we know what official declarations mean only too well to give words their ordinary significance." "Catholics will prefer, in matters affecting religious life in Poland, the direct evidence of Polish Catholics."

"A Reuters (British) Dispatch from Paris said a white paper issued by the Polish government in exile estimated 18,000 Polish leaders of all classes have been killed by the Nazis in German occupied Poland."

"The report added that the horrors described in the Polish document were reminiscent of the stories regarding German concentration camps related in the recent white paper on conditions within Germany."

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Preparations are being made at St. Margaret's church in the ward, for the annual celebration of Lent. Lent begins on Wednesday, February 7.

Residents of North Cedar, North Liberty and nearby streets were without water, nearly all Sunday morning and afternoon, while workmen repaired the fire hydrant that was broken by an auto at the corner of North Liberty and East Clayton streets.

The city scraper visited the ward Monday and removed a great deal of the caked snow and ice from the streets.

Following the scraper, a crew of workmen from the street department, spent the remaining portion of the day removing other portions of snow and ice, and loading it into trucks.

Shenango river, near the East Cherry street bridge is frozen. Residents of this district report that this is the first time they can remember the river, at this point, being frozen in about 8 years.

This long cold snap has caused a continuous drain on the huge ash supply pile along North Cedar St. The ashes are used on slippery streets, to help prevent accidents.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"Joe's good at getting things out of eyes—Hey, Joe, come here."

Joe ambles over, wiping his dirty hands on his drier overalls.

Joe is pleased with his reputation and has an air of assurance. He pulls a soiled handkerchief out of his pocket.

Twisting a corner into a point he probes about in the victim's eye. Poking and jabbing he finally stabs the offending particle.

Smiling proudly Joe exhibits the result of his handiwork.

What Joe didn't show or know about was the damage he'd done. He had not only scratched the eyeball, he infected it.

Some dirt on his handkerchief remained in the troubleome eye. A day or two later, the victim's eye was badly inflamed and sore.

He went to a doctor, where he should have gone in the first place.

Plan Changes In Francis Motor Sales Company Building

Extensive Changes At Ford Headquarters To Be Started Thursday

In about 1905, Dr. Samuel Perry Sr., had taken delivery of his first automobile, and it was on this occasion W. A. Francis was asked by the Doctor if he would like to take a ride in the car. Of course, he virtually leaped at the opportunity and experienced the thrill of riding all the way from Long avenue, up Mill street, to Washington street.

Whatever may have been the influence of this ride, it is interesting to note that seven years later Mr. Francis was to launch his career in the automobile business and succeed, in becoming one of the top executives of the Ford Motor Company, whom he continues to represent in New Castle, Pa.

Those were the days when the song "He had to Get Under and Fix Up His Automobile" was popular. Automobile dealers were largely selected from those who had operated bicycle shops, livery stables, blacksmith shops, etc. to a very considerable extent all over the country.

Of course, repair service was somewhat limited by hand tools. While this service was designed to keep the automobiles on the road, it was rather crude as compared with first-class shops today. Believing that this service should be of a scientific nature, in order to keep the automobile operating at its high point of efficiency, Mr. Francis sought to introduce coordinated service equipment which would retain precision of workmanship in keeping with the processes followed by the manufacturer in the production of the automobiles. And so it was in the spring of 1918 when he conducted the first service clinic ever to be held in the automobile business. This resulted in his appearing before the Society of Automotive Engineers in Dayton, Ohio, for the purpose of elaborating upon the subject and its feasibility of operating in all automobile repair shops throughout the country.

Service caravans were conducted over a very extensive area throughout the East and South whereby a mobile repair shop was transported into various cities for the purpose of showing automobile owners, present and prospective, the extent to which proprietary interest on the part of automobile dealers in the care of the vehicle after delivery had developed.

Sometime later, their followed a lecture tour throughout the United States which gained considerable notice in newspapers and trade journals. Therefore, when Mr. Francis launched his business in New Castle it is not surprising that he concentrated on service, or what he prefers to call proprietary interest in the automobile. This not only called for the best word in equipment but for the employment of men and methods which would permit of the best service at the least possible expense. That this service has developed is attested by the fact that three major changes in facilities have occurred in the last five years. Beginning Thursday, February 1st, another major change in building construction will be launched for the purpose of making all departments more accessible and to permit of further free movement of cars and trucks from one department to another. The changes include archways, a ramp to replace an elevator and to provide commodious lounging room quarters for those who desire to wait for their cars as they are being reconditioned.

These facilities have already received the endorsement of many of the major companies operating in this locality and those as far away as fifty miles from our city. As much as anything these major changes are as much a compliment to the automobile public of this locality as they are a manifestation of the faith of Mr. Francis in this locality and its future possibilities. He has demonstrated this faith in his various civic activities and his experience and observation throughout the nation have made his services in this respect of value to this community.
